KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

The General Assembly Now in Session at Washington.

MASTER SOVEREIGN'S ADDRESS

A Lengthy Document of Great Importance to Organized Labor—The Treasurer's Report and Other Features of the Day.

Washington, Nov. 13.—This morning's session of the general assembly of the Knights of Labor was devoted to further discussion of the report of the committee on credentials. There appears to have been a misunderstanding on the part of some of the assemblies with regard to the representation allowed under the new article of the constitution adopted last year and this resulted in the seating of some delegations larger than the constitution permitted. It has taken the better part of the two days straighten out this tangle. The question of admitting certain delegates, whose rights to seats were contested on the ground that under the constitution the proper apportionment had not been observed, was disposed of during the afternoon by the admission of Delegate De Leon of New York assembly district No. 49, and O'Brien, of district Assembly No. 30 of Massachusetts. Both of these men are said to be anti-administration delegates and will aid in the fight to oust the administration now in power in the general assembly. Their admission was a compromise. It appears, however, that the administration people have a very comfortable majority of the votes in the assembly. The report of Grand Master Workman Sovereign was endorsed as read. It was as follows:

Sovereign's Address.

To The Officers and Members of the General Assembly: In the general master workman's annual report, read at the general assembly which convened at Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 13, 1888, may be found the following: "Many causes combined to reduce the numbers of those who swore allegiance to the principles of the Knights of Labor. The circulation of false statements concerning the strength of the order drove away thousands who regarded quantity as being superior to quality in the make-up of the membership of a labor organization. When the rumors went forth from the enemy's quarters that the numbers were dropping down, the members who looked to others for what they should do themselves, dropped out also. When the divergence of opinion between the general officers became heralded broadcast by those who always magnified, then the members who looked for unity among the officers, instead of doing their duty by waiting until they could replace those officers with others, withdrew from the order temporarily. The story so often circulated and so wonderfully magnified of the extravagance of the general officers frightened others, and they, too, stood still until this session would assemble. In their ranks were men whose love of self predominated; whose selfish desires could not be suppressed for the common weal and on no occasion would they consent to sink self for the good of all. The oft-told story of their grievance sickened and drove many from the order."

Disintegrating Influences.

"If the cause above quoted had a disintegrating influence upon the order seven years ago and had a tendency to arrest its onward march in the struggle for industrial emancipation, what could be expected as the result of well directed conspiracy to destroy it, controlled and directed by men who had served for many years in its highest and most influential positions.

"At the general assembly which convened at New Orleans one year ago, there were men who took part in its sessions by day and went out in the shadows of night to act with a conclave intent on dismemberment and destruction. While pretending loyalty to the order and shedding humid, sympathetic tears for its cause, they were plotting under cover of the night to effect its assassination in the most cowardly manner known to intrigue and deception. The doors of the session were scarcely closed when letters were sent to all parts of the country containing falsehood and vilification and urging local assemblies to pay no more per capita tax to the general assembly. Five delegates came to that session with $1,500 which they drew from their constituents and evidence is not wanting to convince the most credulous that they were actuated by pinfeathermotives. The ex-general master workmen solicited funds from members under pretense of landing the present general officers in jail, and came to New Orleans with a coterie of ex-officers and defeated candidates to aid in the work of corruption and death. He was not willing to wait until officers whom he disliked could be replaced with others, nor would he sink self for the good of all as expressed in his complaints against members in his report of 1888.

Ex-Officers Denounced.

He joined the clan of office-seeking destructionists who used the virtues of the order to cover up their devilish treachery and committed their crimes in the name of knighthood. Baffled in their every purpose to disrupt the order at New Orleans, the band of seceders silently stole away to secluded ambush and organized a guerilla warfare against the order they had sworn to support and protect. They employed the ever public press to malign the general officers and discourage the loyal and confiding members; they printed scurrilous circulars and contributed money to sow the seed of discord and dissension in our ranks and publicly boasted that 65,000 of its members had joined the revolt against what they called the regime of official corruption in the order.

"Thousands of loyal members were induced by false representations to withhold their support from the general officers and thousands of others went out in the gloom of hopelessness and despair.

"To say that the acts of these conspirators embarrassed the general officers and retarded the ordinary work assigned us as general officers, is indeed a mild expression of the strain and distress thus imposed upon us. But no general officer lost heart or gave up in dismay and under the shield of an order pledged to humanity and armed with the truth, we applied the knife of surgery to charters and memberships disloyal to the cause of knighthood and when the virulent tumors were exposed to the world, thousands of misguided members saw the error of their ways and returned to the sanctuary.

"Secedes were summarily ejected from local and district assembly meetings; portraits of leading ex-general officers were thrown into the fire by local members as an expression of scorn and contempt of the base villainies of the conspirators and co-operation spread over the entire order.

A United Order.

"To-day for the first time in many years our order stands before the world a united whole with an unbroken front, battling for the brotherhood of man and the freedom of labor from the thralldom of greed and so-called independent movement, which had its origin in selfishness and dishonor and sank behind the horizon in the industrial field to be mourned by monopolies of the country who fondly hoped it would crush forever the order of Knights of Labor. Now that this order has proven its ability to live in spite of the aggressions of organized capital and will stand the assaults of designing persons, who sought to subordinate its usefulness to their selfish desires, I would urge that this session of the general assembly be devoted as far as possible to the work of extending the fields of our operation.

Labor's Dilemma.

"Labor is now between the devil and the deep sea with the devil riding down the beach and the tide flowing in. Capital has monopolized the elements of production and labor is in competition with itself for the right to live and there can never be exact justice to labor and a final solution to the industrial question while the competitive and wage systems continue to hamper the passions of greed and grind the faces of the poor. A money oligarchy is fast wiping out the last vestige of individual liberty. Construction by judicial authority is already given to law, placing all labor organizations in the category of criminal conspirators. Misdemeanors of the most trivial character have been raised to felony without sanction of law and used to imprison representatives of labor organizations and injunctions followed by charges of contempt have been used to confine labor leaders to the felon's cell without evidence of guilt or trial by jury. The associated banks have declared war on the money of the people and the whole plutocratic fraternity has invaded the realm of free government and constitutional security.

"Year by year the laws become more exacting in their application to the poor and more liberal in their application to the corporations and the idle holders of idle capital. Year by year labor gets weaker and more dependent and the possibilities of resuscitating more doubtful. The industrial masses are fast being reduced to circumstance that overshadow independence and manhood with the struggle for bread and shelter.

An Aggressive Campaign.

"With these facts before us, I take the liberty to urge upon this general assembly the necessity of preparing for an aggressive campaign against the common foe.

"In former sessions we have spent most of the time debating and legislating on technical questions concerning the internal government of the order and very little time to organize a force and curb the powers of greed or stay the hand of a social robber. And after all the long and weary sessions we have spent in this manner, I do not believe we have any better constitution to-day than we had 15 years ago.

"In my opinion the constitution now governing this order is conflicting in many of its sections. I firmly believe we should liberalize our present constitution and grant to local, State and district assemblies the greatest possible measure of home rule and local self-government compatible with the security of the order. In my opinion, our present constitution requires of the general officers too much time and too much of the funds of the order in adjusting petty offences and too little time and money in the great field of organization and education.

"Throw additional safeguards around our test of membership by strengthening the obligation and most of the differences and contentions between members and assemblies will pass away.

A Bid for the Farmers.

"During the past year, it has been my pleasure to meet many friends of our order who are actively engaged in agriculture on the broad prairies of the West, and who know the needs of organization and from the friendly expressions received on the subject, I must earnestly recommend that this general assembly inaugurate a movement looking to the organization of a national assembly composed entirely of farmers and farm laborers. A movement of this kind will enable us to successfully refute the arguments of the emissaries of the capitalistic classes in their efforts to convince the farmers that they have no interests in common with the wage workers of the towns and cities and will give to both farmers and wage workers additional power and prestige.

The National Bank Boycott.

"After carefully reviewing the wreck and ruin wrought by the money power and the designs of the sound money clubs which propose bonds and Gatling guns for a solution of the labor question, I issued a boycott on the notes of national banks, and if I were to die to-morrow I would declare it the most righteous act of my life. It exposed the unsound money of the sound money advocates, threw plutocracy on the defensive and forced the national banks into a humiliating confession of their preposterous acts of bad faith with the people. And now I urge this general assembly to indorse that boycott and give it every possible force of official sanction. The conflict between the working people and the idle holders of idle capital is inevitable. The wealth of the many is gravitating to the few with increasing ratio, and labor is drifting towards serfdom faster than ever before.

"I did not join the Knights of Labor for the mere sake of organization, I do not now advocate its principles for the mere sake of organization, but to curb the powers and combat the combinations that are robbing labor of the fruits of its toil. If I cannot do this, I have mistaken the purposes of this organization and its declaration of principles is a snare and a delusion.

"Trusting in the fidelity of the representatives here assembled, thanking them for their unfaltering support and hoping this session may be productive of great good to the poor but deserving toilers, I pledge to you my best efforts in the cause of knighthood.

J. R. SOVEREIGN,
Grand Master Workman.

Treasurer's Report.

The report of the treasurer, Mr. Hayes, has thus far been religiously guarded. It is in the hands of a committee and there is an intimation that it may be given publicity later in the session. There has been some criticism about the disposition of the Philadelphia property of the organization and the amount of money derived therefrom. It is also said that the financial statement is not as prosperous as it has been in the past and the diminution in membership is also commented upon. All of these things however, are merely hinted at and none of the members will talk upon the subject save in the most guarded fashion.

HAWAIIAN ANNEXATION.

A Plan that May Receive President Cleveland's Support.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—A special to a morning paper from Washington says:

Hawaiia may after all become a part of the United States and that within the coming year. Information of a trustworthy nature has been secured concerning the Hawaiian programme to be adopted by the friends of annexation during the coming winter. The joint resolution will be introduced either in the House or Senate requesting the President to negotiate the treaty of annexation with the government of Hawaii. This resolution will have the sanction of the President of the Hawaiian government and of the new Hawaiian minister to this government, Mr. Hatch, who, to-day arrived in San Francisco en route to Washington. Still more important, it will have the approval of President Cleveland. The resolution as introduced or amended will provide that if the President concurs and the government of Hawaii be willing, the scheme of annexation shall include a submission of the question of joining the American union to the voters of the islands. In this form President Cleveland will agree to the resolution and willingly undertake the work of negotiating a treaty. No doubt is felt by Hawaiians of influence and extended information that their government will be glad to negotiate such a treaty and when the question is submitted to the suffrage of the Hawaiian people it will be carried by a large majority.

CRIPPLE CREEK.

Latest News from the World's Greatest Gold Mining Camp.

Special to The Gazette:

Cripple Creek, Nov. 13.—A man named Rebidon, who was beaten up at Victor on the night of election, died yesterday. The coroner has been sent for to make an investigation.

A matter of considerable importance is the strike in the Badger Boy which was made public to-day. It is interesting at least as it completes the grand result of shipping mines, connecting Bull hill, Gold hill and Globe hill in a grand unit. It was on Globe hill in the section named where there is not a pay mine. The owners have taken out a sack ore that runs $30 to the ton but have a great quantity of this. They have got big body of low grade ore and are preparing to ship a quantity to-day to the Arodie mill.

FIVE WERE DROWNED.

A Sad Oyster Boat Capsized Near Rockaway.

New York, Nov. 13.—Five lives were lost this morning by the capsizing of the steam oyster boat James W. Boyle, near Rockaway Inlet. A strong wind from the northwest was rolling up a big swell. On the shores which separated the ocean and the lower bay when Captain Robert H. Deakin, of the tug boat Mutual, was coming from sea with a string of city refuse scows saw the oyster boat headed to eastward and making for the mouth of the inlet, which is the entrance to Jamaica Bay. That was 7 o'clock. The tide was half ebb and the tug was toiling along making slow headway. About an hour later Captain Deakin saw the oyster boat steaming around the black buoy, which marks the channel and heading to the northwest for the inlet. The change of course brought her into the trough of sea and she rolled heavily. She had gone but a few lengths when a big sea was seen to sweep over the forward deck where there was an open gangway. It lifted on the pilot house and after deck and heeled the vessel over. Before she righted, another comber dashed itself over the luckless craft and she disappeared from view. Only the top of the pilot house was left to mark the spot where she went down.

Captain Deakin brought his tug and tow around and headed back towards the buoy. He had four scows, on each of which was 2 men, and the keeper's families. He did not dare anchor them in such a sea way he therefore kept his tow with him. It took him three-quarters of an hour to reach the wreckage. Floating about were the pilot house, upper deck blinds, sash and other bits of joiner work, but though he scanned the water carefully no sign was there of the crew. All had gone down with the steamer. There were the captain, Peter McDonald, Jr., 28 years old and married, of Princess Bay; Engineer John Flinn, 38 years old of Flatbush, N. Y.; deck hand, John New[illegible]h, 40 years old, married, of Totten[illegible] S. I.; John Carroll, deck hand and [illegible]k, 40 years old, a widower of Hob[illegible] N. J., and Walter B. NOT IMPROBABLE.

Reported Massacre of Missionaries in Armenia.

AMERICANS AND FRENCH KILLED.

An Official Dispatch Certifies Their Extreme Danger—Special Agent Chilton was Unable to Reach the Interior Towns.

Berlin, Nov. 13.—A dispatch to the Cologne Gazette from its correspondent in Constantinople says that all of the Christian and Armenian teachers between Erzeroum and Trebizand have been massacred.

Not Confirmed.

Washington, Nov. 13.—Secretary Olney was closeted with President Cleveland for an hour this morning. On his return from the White House he stated to the United Press that he had received no dispatch from Minister Terrill confirmatory of the startling story transmitted from Constantinople to the Cologne Gazette in regard to the massacre of the missionaries in Turkey.

In Great Danger.

Constantinople, Nov. 13.—In reply to an inquiry from United States Minister Terrill regarding the situation of the missionaries at Harpoot, Commissioner Dyrnham has replied that while they are alive, their position is one of extreme danger.

FORCE IS NECESSARY.

The United States Must Act if Americans Have been Killed.

London, Nov. 13.—The Standard's Constantinople correspondent in a dispatch which will appear in that paper to-morrow, says that if the report that French and American missionaries have been injured be confirmed there is every reason to believe that France and the United States will no longer confine themselves to remonstrances.

The correspondent also says that the officials at the Yildiz palace are much disturbed by Lord Salisbury's declarations and fear that a European conference may be summoned. The Sultan and his entourage have been, for two days in a state of panic. The condition of affairs in the palace is indescribable, everybody believes the end is near, but nobody ventures to prophesy how it will be effected.

Italian Warships Sent to Turkey.

Rome, Nov. 13.—The government has ordered that five ships of the Eastern Mediterranean squadron, shall join the British squadron in Eastern waters, in any movements looking to the protection of Europeans in case grave events shall arise. The commander of the squadron, Vice-Admiral Accini is instructed to act in concert with the admiral of the British fleet.

The Slaughter at Erzeroum.

London, Nov. 13.—The Daily News to-morrow will print a letter from an European in Erzeroum dated Nov. 1, detailing the slaughter there. He estimated the loss at 3,000, including some women, and records seeing the bodies that had been skinned or otherwise mutilated. The villages in the vicinity, he says, suffered awfully. The massacre was evidently prearranged. A soldier whom the writer knows, declares that orders for the slaughter were given by the Porte.

CHILTON'S MISSION.

The Special Consular Agent was Unable to Reach Erzeroum.

Washington, Nov. 13.—Robert S. Chilton and Dulany Hunter of the State Department, who were sent by this government to establish new United States consulates at Ezeroum and Harpoot, in Armenia, have been recalled by Secretary Olney, and it is believed that the project for which they were dispatched will be abandoned.

Officials of the State Department are exceedingly reticent about the matter, and will admit nothing further than that Chilton and Hunter had informed the department of their return to Constantinople. Whether or not they are now en route to the United States or have been directed to come, cannot be ascertained. It may be that they are in Constantinople making a second endeavor to secure exequaturs from the Turkish government, but there is good ground for the belief that Mr. Chilton at least has been ordered back to Washington.

The practical failure of the mission on which Mr. Chilton and Mr. Hunter were sent is due to the difficulties which the Turkish government placed in their way. They spent some time in Constantinople in a vain endeavor to secure exequaturs, and finally decided to push on towards Erzeroum.

They reached Trebizond on the day of the Armenian massacre there, and Mr. Chilton forwarded a report on what he saw and learned to the department. This report has not been made public. The journey between Trebizond and Erzeroum must be made by road, and the two consular officers expected to have a guard of Turkish soldiers on the route. It is probable that they failed to secure the granting of this courtesy, and this, in view of the great danger to foreigners in that part of Armenia, is probably one of the reasons why the department deemed their return necessary. Without exequaturs and having no official standing with the government, the position of Mr. Chilton and Mr. Hunter would have been exceedingly perilous and in addition they could be of little use to this government.

The dispatch sent to the Cologne Gazette from Constantinople about the massacre of Christian teachers between Trebizond and Erzeroum, created much interest at the State Department. Secretary Olney said he had nothing official about the report.

This afternoon Secretary Herbert called on Secretary Olney, but it was stated, that the conference had not been followed by any orders for increasing the American naval force in Syrian waters.

A cable dispatch was received at the Navy Department to-day from Rear Admiral Selfridge, the new commander-in-chief of the European naval station, stating that he had joined the flagship San Francisco at Marseilles last week. The San Francisco has been ordered to join the cruiser Marblehead in the bay of Alexandretta, where the latter vessel was sent on account of the Armenian troubles, and it is presumed that she started from Marseilles on that day as soon as Admiral Selfridge came on board.

It is reported to-day that the State Department had received important information from Mr. Terrill, the United States minister to Turkey, about the Turkish situation. No hint as to whether this is so can be obtained. Officials of the department absolutely refuse to tell anything about the condition of American interests in Armenia, where nearly all the Christian teachers are native born citizens of the United States, and many of their scholars are naturalized citizens of this country.

GLITTERING PROMISES.

San Francisco is Out After the Next Republican Convention.

Washington, Nov. 13.—That the Republican national convention of 1896 will be held in San Francisco seems assured. Great as the surprise will be at the probabilities of the convention going to the far side of the continent, the leading members of the committee familiar with the temper of that body predict that San Francisco is in a position to win and will carry off the prize. A large delegation of the leading citizens of San Francisco will be in Washington next week in the interests of the national committee Dec. 19, and are expected to bring with them a foretaste of the sort of hospitality which the Golden Gate people are ready to extend to their guests.

They will bring car loads of wines and fruits, a brass band, and, what is much better, the pledged support of all the small Western States and Territories each having a vote in the committee, which counts for quite as much as the vote of the members from the largest State in the Union. Among the influential members of the committee from the East who are pledged to San Francisco are Forrenden of Connecticut, Manley of Maine, and most of the other New England members, Scott of West Virginia and a number of other Southern men have also promised to support San Francisco.

The hustlers from the far West have for some time had shrewd agents traveling through the West and South quietly pledging members of the committee and in this way appear to have stolen a march upon their rivals. When the committee meets next month San Francisco will offer to carry all the delegates to the coast free and will arrange for all other visitors at the low rate of 1 cent a mile. They will promise ample hotel accommodations at reduced rates, and will place in the hands of the national committee a sum of money sufficient to pay off the indebtedness left over from the last presidential campaign. In addition to this they will of course pay all the expenses of the convention, the hotel bills of the members of the national committee and pledge themselves to send every one home happy. The transcontinental railways promise to provide special trains that will run from New York to San Francisco in four days, and from Chicago in three days, with such arrangements that one may go out by one route and return by another.

It is known here that a number of the committee who are as yet unpledged have given a conditional promise to vote for San Francisco if that city will guarantee to provide telegraph facilities and reduced and satisfactory tolls for press dispatches.

Chicago and Pittsburg are San Francisco's only rivals. Pittsburg has the advantage of Mr. Quay's great influence with the committeemen, and the support of the McKinley element, the latter on account of the fact that the people of Pittsburg are exceedingly enthusiastic in their advocacy of the nomination of Ohio's Governor. Mr. Platt is implacably opposed to both San Francisco and Pittsburg, and is in favor of Chicago. As between San Francisco and Pittsburg he favors the latter city. If San Francisco can get the Platt influence it will win the convention. Pittsburg is handicapped by admissions made by her citizens to the effect that her hotel accommodations are inadequate.

So far as can be learned Mr. Platt is the only influential member of the committee who is positive in his support of Chicago. Mr. Clarkson has announced his intention to vote for Chicago if Chicago has any chance, but his second choice is San Francisco if the telegraphic facilities and tolls are made satisfactory there.

DUEL NEAR NEW YORK.

Revolvers were Used and Both Men were Wounded.

New York, Nov. 13.—Warren Ratcliffe McVeigh and Paul Tupper Wilkes fought a duel with revolvers at short distance on the Palisades at Fort Lee early this morning. They were seconded by Robert Ratcliffe Owens and Frank Butler. Both men were wounded.

The four young men engaged in the affair of honor are well known locally, while three of them enjoy reputations that might almost be called national. Mr. McVeigh is a newspaper man and writer of short stories and a leading member of the Southern society. Mr. Wilkes is famous throughout the West as the slayer of George Shepard, one of the leaders of the Riel rebellion, and his second, Frank Butler, is a lecturer of considerable renown, a son of the late Col. George Butler, United States consul to Egypt under President Garfield.

No one except the principals themselves knows the real cause of the duel. The ostensible one was a quarrel resulting from an argument that arose between McVeigh and Wilkes while dining together at the Astor house on Monday evening.

Northern Pacific Receiver Case.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 13.—No decision was announced by Judge Gilbert to-day in the Northern Pacific railway receivership case. Judge Hanford states that the joint request of President Holston of The Farmers Loan and Trust company and the attorneys of the Northern Pacific will not be made public until after all the courts having jurisdiction over the railway have been consulted, when the matter will be finally submitted to New York for settlement.

CRISP FOR SILVER.

A Strong Speech by the Speaker of the House.

INDEPENDENT ACTION FAVORED.

The United States is Big and Strong Enough to Take the Lead in Rehabilitating Silver—Strong Arguments Advanced.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 13.—Ex-Speaker Charles F. Crisp spoke before a joint session of the Senate and House of the Georgia legislature to-night. He had been invited to address the legislature on the political issues of the day, but confined himself almost exclusively to the silver question, coming out most emphatically for the free coinage of both gold and silver at the present ratio and arguing that the United States with over 70,000,000 people was sufficiently powerful to establish bimetallism the world over. His speech was received with the greatest enthusiasm.

Mr. Crisp went into the history of the coinage laws. In 1873, when silver was demonetized the bullion value of the silver dollar was three cents more than the bullion value of a gold dollar. The law of 1873 was passed without the full knowledge of the people or their representatives. He quoted from Thurman, Allison, Garfield, Blaine, Beck and others to show that the full power of the bill was not known and that it was not known at the time that the bill demonetized silver.

He followed this with an announcement that from that date to this the majority of the Democratic party had been working to rehabilate silver. The single gold standard was a Republican measure. He analyzed every vote on the silver question taken in congress since 1873 to show that a great majority of Democrats had voted every time for the free coinage of silver—except in 1893, when the proposition to repeal the Sherman law was up and at that time it was because they expected to have an opportunity to vote subsequently for a substitute measure, and even then there was but two Democratic majority. The single gold standard has never met with the approval of the majority of the Democrats of this country, he asserted.

There was no advantage in having silver as a money, he said, unless it stood upon its own foot.

He stated he did not intend to say that a man who favored the single gold standard was not a Democrat, but he did mean to say that the vast majority of the Democratic party had always been in favor of the bimetallic standard.

Mr. Crisp exhibited a small piece of silver bullion which he explained could not be used as money in any way. It could not be used with which to purchase commodities, but if there was a law allowing it to be taken to a mint and coined then everybody would want it.

He argued that the value of the silver dollar should be a dollar. The way to establish the commercial value of silver was to restore it by legislation to a money status—to rehabilitate it. Coin it at the rate of 16 to 1. That would reestablish its commercial value. (Great applause.)

There was no country in the world that would ship its silver down here to exchange it for gold. We had gained gold under the operations of the Bland-Allison law and under the Sherman law. He believed that the United States was sufficiently powerful to establish a ratio between gold and silver. Gold, he said, was too valuable. He claimed gold had appreciated and argued his claim by comparing its purchasing power in commodities now and before the demonetization of silver. "Our people should be the pioneers in restoring money metal which has been used for all time but recently stricken down."

CROWDS FOR SCHLATTER.

Some Specimens of the Healer's Strange Power.

Denver, Nov. 13.—The fact that Schlatter has announced his work at an end on Friday has resulted in turning the attention of the public generally towards him to such a degree that the whole city is discussing the matter earnestly and to the neglect of all other topics.

The trains to-day brought in a thousand more people from Kansas and Nebraska, and more distant points.

J. B. Handy of Ellsworth, Kan., created a sensation by appearing on crutches before Schlatter and then walking away without them. He was photographed and exhibited for a time as a sample of the work done by the healer.

Judd Webb of Omaha, was treated and his paralysis was instantly cured. The hotel clerks report that they have seen guests come apparently afflicted and later have seen them go away happy and well. One man who limped into the Oxford yesterday on crutches, to-day walked across the corridors without support. These are but illustrations of the stories that fly about.

The crowds grow greater, and it is not an unusual sight to see people standing at down-town street corners in the early morning waiting for the first cable car to start out, that they may get over the river as early as possible.

To-morrow Schlatter is to appear as witness in the case brought before the United States commissioner wherein the fakirs are charged with using the mails to defraud by advertising handkerchiefs for sale that have been "blessed" by the healer. As the strangers seeking treatment will be more numerous to-morrow there is considerable curiosity to know if he will leave his work to attend court.

An Invitation to Schlatter.

Denver, Nov. 13.—Joseph A. Connor, member of the Omaha Chamber of Commerce, arrived in Denver to-day with a petition from that body to Schlatter, the healer, requesting him to stop over in Omaha, several weeks while en route to to Chicago. Mr. Connor had great difficulty in presenting his credentials to Mr. Ed. Fox, the general manager of Schlatter's affairs, but obtained a reluctant promise from that individual to present the matter to Schlatter to-night and return an answer to-morrow.

CHICAGO'S BIG CANAL

SPECULATION AS TO ITS EFFECT UPON LAKE NAVIGATION.

Eight Thousand Men and $4,000,000 Worth of Machinery Have Almost Completed the Gigantic Ditch—Solution of an Ugly Problem.

[Special Correspondence.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—The great drainage canal, one of the biggest works of a ditch digging epoch, is more than two-thirds done. The end of 1896 will see it finished, bona sigue, comedies. Necessary to the Chicago of the future, scarcely less so to the city of today, its progress has been inspired with great energy under the sagacious administration of such men as Messrs. Frank Wenter, J. E. Cooley, A. P. Gilmore, B. A. Eckhart, Isham Randolph and others. Eight thousand workmen and $4,000,000 worth of titanic machinery have gouged the earth and rock for three years with incessant attack. The topography of the city makes any other method of disposing of sewage and procuring the cup of pure water a mere patchwork of tinkers' expedients.

Chicago stands at the base of the low divide which separates the St. Lawrence and the Mississippi basins. The Chicago river runs through the city and empties into the lake. It is not a river, in truth, only a bayou designed by nature to drain a few ponds and swamps. The needs of man have turned it into a sewer, which in course of time has become unspeakably foul and noisome, projecting its abominations into the lake to poison the water supply. In vain has the enforcement of a backward current by pumping works into the old Illinois and Michigan canal been sought. Population, which ran by leaps and bounds, soon outgrew any partial relief. So the ugly problem raised its two headed threat more imminent than before. To settle the matter from the center outward and for all time the great canal after many years of hesitation was planned to convey a steady stream out of the lake through the river, and by a grade of 6 feet in its 28 miles of length to pour the water over the steep declivity at Lockport on its way to the Father of Waters. It restores the ancient western outlet of the lakes and places the Chicago divide. With low water at 22 feet and in its other dimensions rivaling the great canals of the world it will steal 600,000 cubic feet per minute from Lake Michigan. The most magnificent of cloacas will have cost $25,000,000. Its value to one city will be priceless.

Its Effect on the Lakes.

But how about its effect on the great lakes? a question entangled with the interests of a score of states. This opens fresh points of view alike on the side of existing commercial vantage and of possible legislation by congress. To this must be subjected any concern which the internal traffic of the country may ultimately have in the great interstate deep waterway from the Atlantic to the Mississippi, and of this route it is the secondary object of the drainage canal to furnish the costliest section. One easily sees what complications of interest are born out of such conditions if the assumption is allowed that the new outlet of Lake Michigan, hence of all the lake system, will lower the water level to any material extent. That there will be some shrinkage of lacustrine volume is believed by many eminent engineers and among them the experts recently detailed by Secretary Lamont to investigate and report. How much? Will it handicap existing lake commerce? Will it involve constant additional expense in deepening the lake ports? These and other questions spring up like dragons' teeth. They begin to burn and speedily promise an acrid debate, the preliminary growling of which has already been heard along the circuit of lake ports.

The Government Interested.

The area of the surfaces of Lakes Huron and Michigan is 46,250 square miles. It is generally admitted that 600,000 cubic feet per minute of additional outflow would lower these two lakes at least three inches the first year, independent of inflow and evaporation. As these must be regarded as fairly stable, they may be eliminated from the equation. There is a four months' annual rise of the lake and probably the yearly fluctuation due to the additional withdrawal of water would not practically exceed an inch. The temporary fluctuations of Lake Michigan have always varied from 6 to 30 inches per hour. When this is considered, it seems improbable that the added loss of water, equivalent to 3 inches in depth, would not have any appreciable effect on the connecting waterways, such as the Sault de Ste. Marie and St. Mary's river, between Lakes Superior and Huron, or on the St. Clair river, lake St. Clair and the Detroit river between Lakes Huron and Erie. The depth of the strait of Mackinaw, between Lakes Michigan and Huron, puts it on the safety side in any case. The above considerations represent in a nutshell the conclusions of the engineers who scout the idea that the drainage canal can dangerously lessen the lake level. Mr. L. E. Cooley, indeed, formerly chief engineer and now one of the canal trustees, has put on record his opinion, that the good effects of 10,000 cubic feet per second added to the low water volume of the Mississippi will be so marked that the discharge of three or four times this amount will be seriously demanded by the interests of the west without amercing the trade interests of any of the lake ports or of eastern commerce. This view of course is scientific deduction plus enthusiasm, a dangerous factor.

The report of the commission of United States engineers, consisting of Colonel O. M. Poe, Major E. H. Ruffner and Major W. L. Marshall, recently made is far more cold blooded in its view of the case. It emphasizes the fact that the drainage canal must in the nature of things, if it has any effect at all on the lake level, for whatever purpose it was built, pass ultimately under government supervision. Though the gauge readings now taken at Niagara, in lack of other extended observations, do not fully define the changes in lake level they point to a probable loss of 7 inches in level in the two upper lakes and of about 6 inches in Lake Erie. Although the present purpose of the canal engineers looks only to the abstraction of 600,000 cubic feet per minute, yet this will ultimately be doubled and all discussion must be built on that basis.

A Feeling of Uneasiness.

It is intimated that the loss of 6 inches by this agency in Lakes Huron and Michigan would seriously affect the interests of lake commerce. It would practically mean the loss of just so much carrying capacity of vessels as much as measured on the load line. Steamers are now loaded to carry all they possibly can in the interest of economy, and the loss of 6 inches in harbor depth, which in most cases would be inevitable, would entail on equivalent lessening of cargo, a loss of from 6 to 8 per cent. This loss would be continuous, a steady drain on profits of transportation. The report insists that the navigable capacity of all harbors and channels on the lakes below St. Mary's falls will be greatly affected, and that the introduction of a current in the inner harbor of Chicago would be most detrimental to its commercial value. The whole drift varies widely from the assumptions of the Chicago engineers.

Whether these opinions are right or wrong, they are weighted with such high direction and authority as to create a feeling of great uneasiness. When water gauge experiments are extensively made in all the connecting waterways of the lakes perhaps the figures will lead to revised conclusions, "a consummation devoutly to be wished."

LONDON BARBERS.

Some Facts and Philosophy by Bart Kennedy.

[Special Correspondence.]

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Shaving in London costs about a fifth of what it costs in the United States, but the English barber is far from being the equal in skill of the American barber. His touch is heavy and his razor is usually dull—a bad combination. You must have a very easy conscience indeed to fall asleep in the chair while he is performing upon you. And the chairs! Heavens! They are straight up, cushionless and most uncomfortable to sit in. How I sigh for the luxurious barber chairs at home wherein a fellow may take his trip into dreamland and come back again feeling refreshed and looking neat and clean and right up to date.

You are shaved much quicker in England than you are in America. And well you might, for the barbers here don't take a tenth of the pains over you that the barbers take at home. They quickly mow you over the face with a dull razor and call out, "Thank you!" "Thank you" means get up out of the chair and pay for the mowing. You don't have to pay much, though. But then a fellow is apt to think that the mowing is dear at any price.

If you go to a place frequented by workingmen, you will get a shave for a penny, and upon my honor, it is really all the shave or to be more exact scrape is worth. In a swell place they charge you threepence. Here they have chandeliers, and the barber or scraper is polite because he expects a tip, but the agony is just the same. Heavy of hand and dull of razor seems to be the motto of them all.

The places where the workingmen get shaved are the most interesting to the student of English human nature, because as the sons of toil are waiting to have their features manicured, so to speak, they while away the time by telling each other how much they don't know about everything in general and particular. In the high class places the waiting victims either read the periodicals or take refuge in fine English reserve.

A London barber gets from 10 to 14 shillings a week and his board. He begins work at 8 in the morning and winds up at 8 at night. On Sunday he is through work by 2 o'clock in the afternoon. There is nothing dapper or know all about him, as there is about the lads at home, but he is civil and polite and would be all right only that he can't shave.

Quite often the barbers in the east end of London are bookmakers. For the benefit of churchgoing, respectable people I may as well explain that a bookmaker is a man who gives odds against race horses.

In these places the British workingman pays a penny for a shave and bets a shilling upon the horse of his fancy. Some time ago I was amused to hear one of them expatiating upon the merits of the race horses owned by Richard Croker. The workingman had come out away ahead through betting on all of Croker's horses, and he looked upon him as his benefactor.

For a hair cut you pay all the way from threepence to sixpence. Right here I must say that the London barber possesses at least one merit—he doesn't keep telling you the while he is operating that you need a shampoo, that you ought to have your hair singed or that you ought to take a dollar bottle of his sudden hair tonic for the general benefit of your locks. No, he lets you alone in this respect. You are, to be sure, very much aware of the fact that he is dallying with your cranium, but he never makes you feel ashamed of your stinginess and of the fact that you have only just enough money for the hair cut. You just go in and say to him, "I want my hair cut," and he cuts it without any remarks.

There is no such thing in London as the having of a special barber or cup for the use of each customer. Of course I don't say that there are not men in London who are lathered in this cleanly way, but it certainly isn't the rule, as it is in a good barber shop at home.

BART KENNEDY.

Mrs. Mary Dodge and Emerson.

It is interesting how strong the influence of a poet sometimes is. A friend of Mrs. Mapes Dodge, who first consults one day to go with her into a private room in her city, with apartment in Fifty-eighth street, stepped from immediately the door to examine a large framed photograph hanging on the wall. It was a very beautifully finished head of Emerson.

Mrs. Dodge turned back and exclaimed: "You are admiring my Emerson. It is one of the dearest things I possess. It goes with me everywhere, though I do not often talk about his essays. The face is constant enough help."—New York Herald.

Colorado Springs stands to-day in the same position to Cripple Creek that Denver did to Leadville in her palmy days. With the great advantage of being much nearer and possessing more natural inducements than Denver ever did. With the Midland Terminal already connecting it with Cripple Creek and the Bear Creek road much more than an idle dream, what is there to prevent Colorado Springs from becoming not only the best but one of the largest cities in the West. MORTON'S EXPLANATION.

The Boston Herald alleged in defense of this tariff which produces a regular monthly deficit of something like $8,000,000, that it has never had a fair trial because the Supreme court pronounced part of it unconstitutional. If this is the best defense that can be made ... pers than The Herald had better give up the job of apologizing for it in advance; and we guess most of them have.

We are informed by circular that the plans for the Tennessee centennial exposition next year are almost completed, and that the affair is going to be a success. We hope so. Nashville has always been a conservative city, and it will gain a great deal by getting up a little enterprise.

The Atlanta exposition is now out of debt, and the gate receipts are, good enough, the management thinks, to keep it out of debt for the rest of its existence.

STILL AT LARGE.

THE WELLS-FARGO ROBBERS HAVE NOT BEEN CAUGHT.

A Telltale Footprint Under a Window—The Officials Believe that Montgomery Certainly was in the Robbery.—The Express People are not Communicative.

The Wells-Fargo express robbers are still at large, and it looks to a man up a tree very much as if they would stay at large. It is true that the strongest force of thief takers ever organized for such work is either now on the hunt for the men or being organized, but it will have a hard row of stumps. That is, it will be strongest in the personnel of its membership, in experience and ability. It is said that William Pinkerton is now on his way from Chicago to take charge or to give advice. This could not be verified, however, at the offices of the company. The company is prepared to spend a large amount of money to find the thieves. It spent over $6,000 in securing the first crowd.

If there is really anything new in the case the "expressmen and the detectives" do not tell it, so that the reporters get hold of it. When questions are asked at the office they refer you to Mr. Dodge, the special agent or detective, and he does not tell. In fact, he gives you the marble heart.

Things were conducted much more quietly yesterday; the dogs were called off and the deputies had disappeared. Where they went no one seems to know. Perhaps they are off on a hot trail.

Most of the local officers believe that the fellow Montgomery or Hancock had a hand in the robbery. Sheriff Bowers thinks so, and Mr. Dana said last night that he believes it. He is not so sure that the two men who escaped from jail were in the robbery, but believes that it is a part of the same gang. It is sure that there was a gang at Cripple Creek last spring that divided the swag with the men who got the $16,000. Among these was the late lamented Capt. Jack Smith.

This crowd has been encamped near Victor, off and on, for a long time. They were in constant communication with the men in jail and also have been helping Lloyd Marye at Leadville.

The uncertainty of capturing the men is because they left little or no trail behind. They appeared and disappeared and that is all there is to it. If they should show up on the streets to-morrow there would be no evidence against them if they did not have the money on them in the express wrappers.

It seems that on the night of the robbery a footprint was discovered under the little window in the rear of the express office. It had evidently been made by some one looking in. The footprint was made with a sharp pointed shoe covered by a rubber. It was from this that the dogs were started. The trail from the county jail covered the route to the viaduct and when the dogs from Rouse arrived later they covered the same trail. The last may have been simply following the first dog. These footprints correspond to those made by the men who killed a citizen of Florence last Saturday while holding him up. Many believe that the men are the same who did both jobs.

It is to be hoped that the men will be captured speedily, and the property recovered, not because the company does not deserve to lose it for its false economy, but just to keep from having salaries cut down so the stockholders will not lose anything.

SUITS FILED.

Big Amounts Claimed for Various Reasons.

A suit was filed in the District court yesterday by J. A. Sewell against J. S. Osborn. It is for an accounting. The defendant is the Osborn who had a lease on the Pike's Peak of the Union company. Plaintiff alleges that he made a contract with the defendant by which he was to do prospecting in Cripple Creek. While so engaged he discovered the rich vein on the Pike's Peak and then got a lease on the property without inviting the plaintiff to share in it. He alleges that the defendant took out $75,000 from the property.

Alienated Affections.

Yesterday a suit was filed in the District court by James Leonard against William M. Price in which $10,000 damages was asked. Plaintiff states in his complaint that he was living at Cripple Creek with his wife, Clara J. Leonard, and that until September, 1894, they were contented and happy. About that time the defendant knowing this yet did wilfully enter his family and alienate the affections of his wife. Since then he has been deprived of her society, services and affections and feels that he is damaged to the extent of $10,000.

The plaintiff in this case is a well known member of the Miner's union and is the president of the Western Federation of Miners.

Wants $25,000 Damages.

Yesterday the attorneys of Albert Kurzman filed a suit against the city for $25,000. The suit has been threatened for some time. Kurzman fell into a coal hole near the Gazette building last June and received some severe injuries. His attornys are Vanatta and Cunningham.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The second class has met and elected the following officers: President, Clyde Spicer; vice president, Edwin Couch; secretary and treasurer, Pierre Barber; historian, Grace Woods.

Frank Heron may be seen around the school every now and then on a visit to some one.

About 25 of the school members have met and formed the Colorado Springs High School Tennis association. At the first meeting, two weeks ago, a committee was appointed to make a constitution, and Mr. Edwin Couch was appointed temporary chairman. At the next meeting the chairman of the committee read the constitution and it was adopted, section by section. Any member of the High School can belong. The conditions are, each one must furnish a racket, and must not wear any shoes except tennis shoes on the grounds. The dues will be 75 cents. An election of officers was held, and resulted as follows: President, Hugh McKenzie; vice president, Rosita Kellogg; secretary-treasurer, Olive Dwinell; manager, Willis Strachan; custodian, Miss Carruthers.

Meade Thomas came to school last Wednesday. He has a stiff leg, and will not be able to play for a good while.

The cadets will have an inspection on Friday. There will be an officer from Fort Logan to inspect them. An officer is to come down every month. The roll call is so long, that it generally takes about 20 of the 30 minutes to call it.

In the last number of the Normal School Crucible, the paper of the Norman School at Greeley, there appeared an article by Mr. Dexter on "Science in the Model School."

Harry Russell has been made a corporal.

A petition is being circulated asking the school board to furnish a bulletin board announcing the various club meetings. Some times Mr. Turnbull has to give out 10 or 12 notices during the day. The petition asks that a board be placed in one of the halls where everyone can see it.

Mr. L. E. Harlss, superintendent of public schools at Oregon, Ill., was a visitor yesterday.

The third class will have a party on Friday night.

Last Friday the third class elected the following officers: President, Anson Spenney; vice president, Ella Graber; secretary-treasurer, Clem Morris; sergeant-at-arms, George Lengel.

The first class will soon start a class in Hamlet, which promises to be very interesting. They carefully study the play, and then, at their request, Keene will play Hamlet with his company on Dec. 21.

The Adelpi Debating society, it is rumored, has broken up. The second class has debates instead of English.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

All young men are reminded of the meeting for men only this noon from 12:15 to 12:30. All women are reminded of the meeting for women this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Those who were present yesterday enjoyed fully the words of Mr. Gravitt. He leads the meeting this afternoon, also.

To-night Mr. Gravitt takes for his subject at the evangelistic meeting for men "Divine Bookkeeping." All men are welcome to come. Mrs. Rose Carter Crafts who sang so acceptably at the Sunday afternoon rally, will sing again to-night.

Wagner Lectures.

On Tuesday, Nov. 19th, the first lecture in the unique and delightful course by Mr. Goldmark, on the life and theories of the great composer, Richard Wagner, will be given in All Souls' church, corner of Dale and Tejon streets, at 8:30 p. m.

At this lecture Mrs. C. E. Palmer will sing Elsa's ballad from the Flying Dutchman, and those who are familiar with Mrs. Palmer's remarkable voice and perfect style know that she is one of the few artists who can successfully render this exquisite ballad. Tickets for the course $3.00. Single admission 75 cents.

Herrmann's Novelties.

Herrmann, the magician, who comes to the opera house next Monday evening, is always contriving something new to startle his admirers, and this season he is presenting a programme that in variety and magnificence eclipses anything he has ever before presented. He has applied a new entertainment to the drama and it has been found to be such a radical change that the new name has been found necessary to express it and it now bears the name of magi-comedy. This magi-comedy is entitled "The Artist's Dream," and consists of a short play in which a feature of magic and spectacular surroundings are the principal themes. The story it tells is that of a young artist who has painted the picture of his ideal form of female loveliness and falling in love with it is overjoyed at it coming to life before his very eyes. The working out of this pretty story is beautiful and poetic. Herrmann's other marvels are entitled "The Asiatic Trunk Mystery," "Trilby" and "The Columbian" Transformation." Madame Herrmann in beautiful spectacular dance creations will also be seen with the accompanying use of fourteen different colored lights.

Pauline Hall in "Dorcas."

There are thirty odd musical numbers in "Dorcas," Pauline Hall's new operatic comedy which she will present at the opera house Saturday evening. Hugh Chilvers, the basso of the company, has a striking figure. He is six feet, two inches in height, soldierly in appearance and was for many years the bass soloist of all Sir Augustus Harris' operatic presentations in London, England. He has a magnificent voice of great volume and range.

MINES, STOCKS AND INVESTMENTS.

Board of Trade Exchange.

First Call.

Colorado Springs, Nov. 13—Business was as brisk as ever at the first call of the Board of Trade and nearly all the old favorites, as well as some new ones, were active That lively trader, C K. and N., again made itself prominent by being the heaviest seller of the call The total was very close to 60,000 shares, and the stock is now selling at 1½ and better. Three other stocks had over 40 000 sales, and these three were Nipple Mountain, Bay State and Goldstone The latter stock made a nice advance in price selling as high as 2¼, but it was offered quite freely at that figure at the close of the call The Nipple Mountain sales were made all the way from $7 50 and $9 per 1000, and BayState sold at from $5 50 to $8 per 1000. Among the other stocks that were actively traded in, Creede and Cripple Creek was strong at—better than 7 Copper Mountain at about 2¾, Bankers at better than 18, Bob Lee at 1⅞. Aola at 3¼, Red Bird at 2¾, Des Moines at 5 and 6¼, Silver State at 2⅛ and Star of the West at 2¼.

Second Call.

Business was again very brisk at the second call and the brokers were successful in bringing the total sales for the day to over 1 000,000 shares, which now appears to be a matter of daily occurrence on this floor Though far from being the heaviest Portland was about the most active seller on the list The stock had a total of 5600 shares, every share of which brought $2 02 The deals included one block of 5000 shares, which is the biggest deal that has been consummated since the 100,000 shares transaction was consummated. The heaviest seller of the lot was Pappoose, with a total of an even 80,000 shares This stock continues strong in price and sold at 3¼ and 3¾. There was a big rush after Defender, which sold to the tune of 32,000 shares, and which brought from $10 to $12.50 per 1000, showing an appreciation of about 100 per cent in the past few days. Star of the West was another strong and lively stock, and had close to 40 000 sales at 2¾ and 2½ Security showed considerable strength, and sold at $10 and $11 per 1000. Consolidated was credited with 10,000 sales at 16¾ and 16⅞, and the same can be said for Creede and Cripple Creek at from 7 to 7¼ and Bankers at better than 18 Isabella was a little off color, and sold at 32½. The total sales for the day amounted to 1,188,455 shares.

THE DENVER PIT.

Special to The Gazette

Denver, Nov. 13—Business fell off a little this morning and prices were just a trifle more easy than they have been for the past few days. The reduction was most noticeable in the cheaper stocks, though the biggest drop is not enough to cause any apprehension about a general slump in values The public are as interested as ever, and the room set apart for the visitors as well as the gallery were again packed to suffocation C K. and N. was again the heaviest trader on the list, and made a slight improvement in price, Creede and Cripple Creek was a lively seller, and showed some improvement. Addie C was also a heavy seller, but was one of those that dropped in price, it being due, in this case, to heavy and indiscriminate selling Addie sold to the tune of 33 000 shares, some of which sold as high as 1 and closed in good demand with $9 bid. Goldstone, Isadore and Favorite were the active traders among the unlisted stocks. The total sales amounted to 862,000 shares, 656 900 of which were credited to the listed stocks

Our Exchanges

Speaking of the Exchange The Engineering and Mining Journal says: "By raising the membership to say 60 the association will receive in fees about $15,000 I am told that ten Eastern banking houses will be admitted to membership and that eight applications have already been received from prominent firms, such as Henry Clews, of New York; Kennett, Hopkins & Co., of Chicago, and others. There has been some talk also of a new building for the exclusive use of the association. All these things lead us to believe that Mr. D. V. Donaldson is not asleep. And those who know that gentleman's capacity for 'getting there' and remember what he has done for the association will not be surprised by these manifold evidences of success."

The article also says. The Board of Trade continues also to meet with the success which has made people so desirous of emulating it that a third exchange was thought necessary. Mr. H H. Dorsey, to mention whose name is to say 'Board of Trade,' has no reason to feel otherwise than pleased with the record of the institution in which he has interested himself to such good purpose. The volume of business done for the week ending November 5th amounted to 3,716,860 shares, representing a cash value of $129,286."

Cripple Creek Illustrated.

The mining editor is requested by Mr Warren, to call attention of presidents and secretaries of Cripple Creek companies to the blanks prepared for the forthcoming book on Cripple Creek This publication is to be a compendium of information, and only those ecompanies that supply the facts asked for will be given space. Blanks can be had at the Chamber of Commerce or of the secretaries of the exchanges There is no time to lose in making them out and returning them to 3 Pike's Peak avenue.

"Cripple Creek and Colorado Springs Illustrated" will be by all odds the most useful book ever gotten out on any Colorado mining district Over 100 new photo-engravings are being prepared and all who have seen the photographs taken by Poley are of one mind as to their worth If any companies are left out of this timely publication it will be their own fault and not that of Messrs. Warren & Stride

F. H Pettingell has been elected secretary of the Desquesne company The properties are located on Tenderfoot hill

Applications for membership at the Exchange continue to come in at a rapid rate and when the names are finally passed upon it is quite probable that the membership list will have from 30 to 35 new names The list remains open until Saturday next when it will definitely close

Broken Hill Co.

The ore in the Maggie claim belonging to the Broken Hill company improves with depth Manager Baxter, representing the lessees is very enthusiastic over the outlook, and to-day bought at private sale a large block of the stock at 2 cents

Besides the Maggie the company owns the Ram's Horn on Globe Hill, which they have been offered a bond on for $25,000 but which was promptly refused The stock of this company is scattered throughout the East which accounts for the lack of activity in it

THE MARKETS.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago Nov 13 An occasional trade was made in wheat during the morning hours of to-day's session, but there was no bustle or activity in the market Prices hung about the same place for about an hour and no one seemed to care whether they moved one way or the other After the break of the past few days, yesterday's fractional recovery was expected to be supplemented by a further advance, and the scalpers and floor traders were inclined to play the "long" side for a turn Whilst visible stocks have been accumulating recently, they are still a considerable amount short of last year at the same time The bulls point to this fact with a certain amount of confidence, yet they are not aggressive in action Liverpool cables were firm and ¼ pence higher. Receipts at Chicago were 226 cars and the Northwest had 1,182 cars

Corn—Mildly bullish talk was heard in corn, the light receipts, 207 cars, and good out-movement here and at the seaboard, 130,406 bushels, and 296 859 bushels respectively communicating firmness to the tone The crowd, however, is apprehensive of the new crop movement, which must soon get under way. Liverpool cables were steady to firm. May corn opened at 29¾@29¾, closing at 29⅝@29¾, ¼ higher than yesterday. Estimated receipts for to-morrow 300 cars

The railway and miscellaneous share speculation was irregular to-day. At the opening there was a period of hesitancy due to lower cables from London and rumors of gold exports but the impression made on prices on this account was slight. As the day advanced, however, the market improved on reports that there would be no gold exports on Saturday after all The whole list moved up anywhere from ½ to 4 per cent Late advices from abroad were of a cheerful nature and the stimulated bullish feeling here. London was more disposed to buy our securities and a few orders were executed in Atchison, St. Paul and L. and N., the gain in prices was most pronounced in the anthracite coalers Spear the grangers, Southern railway preferred and the Southwesterns

NOTHING LIKE IT.

Time brings many changes, but the climate of California, "the Italy of America," and the attractions of the many famous health and pleasure resorts, are the same yesterday, to-day and forever.

Tourists never will tire of speaking in praise of the soft and balmy air, the profusion of flowers, the magnificent display of fruits, the luxury of sea bathing and the beautiful walks and drives

Then, too, it must be conceded that with such excellent equipment, consisting of reclining chair cars, Pullman palace sleepers and Pullman dining cars, all heated by steam and lighted with Pintsch light, the Union Pacific, "The Overland Route," is the tourists' favorite. Ask your agent for tickets via this route E. L LOMAX, Gen'l Pass. and Tkt. Agt., Omaha, Neb

Weather Indications.

Washington, Nov. [illegible]—For Thursday—Fair weather; northerly winds.

Mr. C. H. [illegible] left last evening on the Santa Fe for the East.

An appeal was [illegible] in the county court yesterday in Brooks vs. the City of Colorado Springs.

Monte [illegible] Auxiliary will meet this afternoon with Mrs. Stella Baker, No. 7 North Cascade.

[illegible] two [illegible] boys who robbed Holmes & Semple's store were bound over by Justice Walker yesterday.

Mr. [illegible] Merrill, the vice-president of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company of Milwaukee, was a visitor in the city yesterday.

Major Hood and his son from Ft. Logan are in the city and guests at the Alamo. Major Hood had command when the regulars were here last summer.

Rev. Mr. Severance, a missionary to Japan, gave a talk at the First Congregational Church last evening that was greatly enjoyed by those who heard it.

An adverse suit was filed in the District court yesterday in entitled Frederick Kreiner et al. vs. Dennis Brophy, and is the Cloud City, adversing the Pine Knot.

Judge Harris's court was not in session yesterday and only one case was settled by Judge Lunt. It was Bartels vs. the B. and M. Mining company, default for failure to answer.

Messrs. [illegible] and Warren, who are getting out the fine book, Cripple Creek and Colorado Springs Illustrated, have taken up quarters with Mr. Buckman. Their book is catching on well and is to be a useful and handsome affair.

Secretary Buckman, of the Chamber of Commerce, is preparing data regarding Cripple Creek to be used by Bradstreet's commercial agency. It is to be used in a series of articles in their publication. The Bradstreets asked for the data unsolicited.

Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to J. H. Rawlings and Miss Anna Cook, both of Cripple Creek; to Roland L. De Vor and Miss Mary Mackey, both of Colorado Springs; to A. E. Grow and Miss Irene Taylor, both of Sioux Falls, S. D.

Tuesday evening last Mr. Guy Smith, formerly of this city, and Miss Bertie Skinner of this city were quietly united in marriage, Rev. Mr. Prewitt officiating. They left immediately for their home in La Junta, where Mr. Smith is now engaged in business as a merchant.

It will take fully another day to make the official count of the ballot at the late election. The county clerk and his assistants were busy all day yesterday on the work. So far the Populists have not asked for a representative to be present at the count, and if there is to be a contest no one so far seems to be fathering it.

The College men are working hard in preparation for the game of football with Boulder next Saturday. If they do not win it will not be for lack of work. Mr. Cash is with them every afternoon now and will teach them a thing or two. The game is to be called at 2:30. If our men win this game they will stand a great chance for second place.

Manager E. Barnett, of The Antlers, is putting an electric light plant in the hotel. Two four hundred light dynamos are being put in at a cost of $[illegible]. Mr. Barnett figures that in two years he can have his plant clear and have just as many lights in the meantime as he wants. The Semmes system, made in Chicago, is being put in. He expects to have it in operation by the first of the month.

Hibbard & Co. are making decided reductions to reduce stock before moving. See their "ad."

Will be at the Opera house Wednesday evening, Nov. 20th. Secure your seats now at the Opera house.

Speaking of Populism some time ago, ex-Senator Ingalls said: "The pulse is feeble; the respiration is low; the undertaker is ready." Judging from Tuesday's returns there is no reason why the undertaker should wait any longer.—(Chicago Herald.
